Standard Operating Procedure

Animal Services – Secure Enclosure for Dangerous, Vicious or Nuisance Animal

The City of San Angelo Animal Services aims to ensure the public safety by appropriately securing animals deemed dangerous, vicious or nuisance. The following requirements must be met and maintained to own or harbor such animals.

- A fence of sound construction that would reasonably prevent escape of the dog.
- A fence constructed in the manner to prevent escape from underneath.
- A fence of height to prevent the dog from going over the top.
- Any structures that would aid the dog in going over the fence must have sufficient distance to prevent the dog from escaping.
- If the dog is capable of climbing a fence, the enclosure must have a top to prevent escape.
- The enclosure must have a concrete bottom or concrete footing of sufficient depth to prevent escape.
- Gate(s) to the enclosure must be locked at all times.
- Signs must be visible and must state (1) “No Trespassing” and (2) “Beware of Dog” to adequately warn any person that approaches.
- The enclosure must have shelter for the dog and room for the animal to move around and exercise.

There may be additional requirements on a case-by-case basis.

Consider adopting the online ambassador program for lost and found pets (Presentation made by Neighborhood & Family Services Assistant Director Morgan Chegwidden)

Summary/History:

One tenet of Pets Alive! programming is progressive return to owner practices. We currently outperform best practices annually with over 1,300 animals returned to owners last year, or 26% of total outcomes. However, we know that owned pets continue to languish in the shelter awaiting adoption/transport when they have an owner. One practice to get even more pets reunited with owners quickly is an online ambassador program.

San Angelo's citizens have a robust online presence posting lost and found pets daily. Venues include Facebook groups, the NextDoor app, helpmegethome.com and more. Guiding owners of lost pets to our services such as petcolove.org/lost, a facial recognition technology, and petango.com, a live inventory of pets, will help match more owners with lost pets.

Online ambassadors may browse the daily posts and comment next steps to see if their pet is in the shelter. Language may include 'be sure to register your pet's picture with petcolove.org/lost' or 'Bella A48888888 may be your missing gray schnauzer, please contact animal services for more information'.

Volunteers will then notify a staff liaison of their progress. For example, 'potential owners of Hank A49999999 will be in touch tomorrow to identify him in person'. Once a potential owner is identified, city staff has great success finalizing an owner redemption.

The online ambassador program is one of many tools we're using to get lost pets reunited with owners quickly. Creating valuable communication with potential owners through social media will build goodwill with the community and guide citizens in responsible pet ownership.

Consider the Dogs Playing for Life program (Presentation made by Neighborhood & Family Services Assistant Director Morgan Chegwidden)

Summary/History:

Dogs Playing for Life is a non-profit organization that advocates for play groups to be offered to sheltered dogs while in residence. Their motto is Every Dog, Every Day with the aim that each individual dog would be offered enrichment out of their kennel to socialize with playmates. Their tagline "Dogs live to play, now let's let them play to live" encompasses the program offered.

Concho Valley PAWS was awarded a grant for DPFL trainers to come onsite to teach us the program. Both classroom and onsite training was utilized to become acquainted with the program. DPFL is proven to be the single greatest way to increase welfare and decrease stress for dogs in a shelter environment.

There are two main ways to run play group. First, support quality of life for dogs in residence. Since we're staffed so lean, DPFL recommends the alternative - running play group to support cleaning more quickly and efficiently.

Our short term goal is to launch play group within four weeks for 50% of our population weekly. Within three months, we hope to host play group for 85% of dogs weekly. This will be largely volunteer supported with two key staff members coordinating.

Dogs Playing for Life

Morgan Chegvidden

Dogs Playing for Life

- Quality of life over quantity of life
- Focus on every individual in care
- Every dog, every day
- Give them something every day
- Dogs live to play, now let's let them play to live
- Satisfy them at some level
- Summer camp
- Not one size fits all

Dogs Playing for Life

- Extremely flexible
- Socially healthy dogs can be better teachers than humans
- Mental and physical outlet
- More receptive to training
- Behavior modification at more advanced level
- More accurate assessment of behavior
- Play group = placement
- Natural environment for pack animals

Dogs Playing for Life

- Maximize resources
 - Two people running play group can attend to more dogs than handling individually
 - 80 dogs in 2.5 hours
 - 30 minutes in playgroup = 2 hour walk

Dogs Playing for Life

- Organizational benefits
 - Clean faster with dogs outside
 - Better adoption matches
 - More comprehensive
 - Better foster matches
 - Increased volume

Dogs Playing for Life

- Average increase of 6.8% to live release rate
- Average length of stay decreased by 4.29 days after 3 months of play group
 - Decreased 13.45 days long term
- Average decrease of 29.26% onsite dog bites after 1 year

Dogs Playing for Life

- Candidates for playgroup
 - All ages*, breeds, temperament
 - Comfort level of handler
 - Be safe and inclusive
 - Caution small vs. large

Dogs Playing for Life

- When should they participate?
- After stray hold
- After medical watch
- Consider known behavioral history but be flexible

Dogs Playing for Life

- What's the role of your play group?
- Play group to facilitate cleaning
 - Not big on behavior modification
- Play group for quality of life
 - Take the time with behavior modification

Dogs Playing for Life

- Body language
- Don't focus on minutia, observe broadly
 - Ears, eyes, mouth
 - Erect tail
 - Hackles
 - Mounting
 - Necking
 - Growling

Dogs Playing for Life

- Play styles
- Gentle & Dainty
- Rough & Rowdy
- Push & Pull
- Seek & Destroy (combo of 2 & 3)

Dogs Playing for Life

- Dog sociability categories
 - Dog social
 - Dog tolerant
 - Dog selective
 - Dog defensive
 - Dog offensive

Dogs Playing for Life

- Greeter dog
 - Happy
 - Social butterfly
- Helper dog
 - Gives and takes appropriate correction

Dogs Playing for Life

- Universal goals of play group
 - Quality of life
 - Stress reduction
 - Increased welfare
- Single greatest way to increase welfare and decrease stress is to get out of shelter

Dogs Playing for Life

- Master appropriate use of aversive tools
 - LIMA – least invasive, minimally aversive
 - Shake can
 - Audible, even innocent dogs are impacted
 - Pet corrector
 - Highest risk of redirection
 - Air horn
 - Super audible, affects all dogs, extreme volume

Dogs Playing for Life

- Like driving a car
 - Gas – N/A, no need to apply in shelter
 - Steering
 - Responsiveness even when distracted
 - Momentary interruption, less intense intervention
- Brakes – stimulus control
 - Immediately stop, most intense

Dogs Playing for Life

- When do they need you?
 - When their play is not mutual
 - To bring down the energy
 - When the response is disproportionate
 - Better safe than sorry
 - Be a neutral hall monitor
 - No resources
 - Pool for drinking water
